New Cabinet Shop.

THERE was so much complaining about exorbitant coffin charges, that I was induced to commence business for myself, and make coffins at the great reduction of from 75 to 25 dollars, more or less. Another great dislike of this community against the old horse did induce me to have a new horse made, more costly, neater and better suited for funerals.

I pledge myself to do my very best to give satisfaction, and whenever any one should object to any of my charges as too high, I will take what is right in his own opinion. As orders directed to me have been interpreted, remember well I carry on the Cabinet Business in Peters building, on Commercial Row. C. SOMMER.
